Responsible visitor behaviour

Recommendations. PLEASE:

- Be aware of and keep your distance from natural hazards (falling rocks, high waters, flooded areas etc.).
- Respect protected and 'no camping' zones.
- Avoid vulnerable natural habitats (marshlands, alluvial zones, upper forest lines etc.).
- Check with the landowner/operator first.
- Light campfires only in purpose-built fireplaces/pits and extinguish before leaving the site.
- Do not approach wild animals.
- Do not enter cattle pens and always close pasture gates behind you.
- Do not disturb the peace.
- Keep your dog on a lead (especially at night, dawn and dusk).
- Do not wash dishes in natural water courses.
- Leave no trace.Take your rubbish home.
- Set up camp only on official or private sites (nomady.ch)

Wild camping and bivouacking

Activities like wild camping and bivouacking are a great way to experience nature up close, but it is critical that visitors respect the land as well as the wildlife that call it home. There are certain areas of the Gruyère Pays-d'Enhaut Regional Nature Park which are more vulnerable than others and therefore have special protection status. Please follow the relevant rules and regulations at all times (see below).

Legal restrictions

Brown zones: Federal game reserves

- No camping

Green hatched areas: Nature reserves

- No camping
- No dogs (Pierreuse and Vanil Noir)
- No off-track walking (Vanil Noir)
- No campfires

Please also comply with the following local regulations:

- Commune of Château-d'Œx: Camping is prohibited in the alluvial zone of the Sarine and on public land unless officially designated as a campground.
- Commune of Corbeyrier: Camping is prohibited on public land unless authorised by the communal council.

If camping on private land, you must seek permission from the owner if you wish to stay for more than four days.
